Westbury Diagnostics, Inc is proud to announce that Dr. Lorrence H. Green will once again serve as a Course Director for the Fundamentals of the Bioscience Industry Program. The program is conducted at the State University of New York at Stony Brook and is targeted toward students at the graduate level and higher seeking to move into non-academic industry careers. Also targeted are life science professionals seeking to enhance their productivity and opportunity for success in the corporate environment.

Dr. Green will be presenting a series of lectures in the Business of Bioscience Module. Among the highlights will be his entertaining lecture based on real life experiences entitled, "Observations of an Entrepreneur". This lecture describes ten observations that he has made in his career including his "Theory of Relativity". Some of the lectures will also include guest speakers, such as John Hill, President of John A. Hill and Associates, and author of the book, "Tips and Tales from the Booth".

More information can be obtained at the Stony Brook University, Fundamentals of the Bioscience Program website.
